Additional Comments

Would like to see USDA agencies identified as AMT voting members since one of the functions is coordination with said agencies. This would ensure their data and vote is considered as a foundational function and not diluted in the vote of multiple federal agencies for consensus.

While discussing the eligibility of "At-Large" members, I questioned why potential members were limited to "federal agencies, and academic institutions." While the language was softened to expand the universe of potential "At-large" members beyond just "federal agencies, and academic institutions," the wording included in the Updated Charge does not reflect the sentiment of the suggested change.

While there is an understanding of the reasoning to potentially have Ag Wkgp members serve on the AMT, but we should be careful to keep the AMT technical and not perceive any undue influence. There is a realization that technical expertise may be the very reason why the membership overlaps. Just something we should keep in mind moving forward.

Allowing states to make their appointments as they see fit seems better.
