

Agriculture Workgroup

5/19/2022

VA DCR Representative - Hunter Landis Bio

Hunter Landis, new Nutrient Management Program Manager with the Virginia Department of Conservation and Recreation (DCR). Prior to joining DCR, Hunter was the Director of State Farm Agribusiness with the Virginia Department of Corrections. In this role he oversaw all operations at the 3,500 acre farm including a dairy herd, beef herd, vegetables, and row crops. Hunter has also worked with the North Carolina Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services as an Agronomist advising growers on plant nutrition and nutrient management. He grew up on a dairy farm in Virginia and holds a Masters in Agricultural Education from Clemson University and an M.S. in Horticulture from NC State University. Hunter is also a Certified Crop Advisor with American Agronomy Society.